Armour Publishing is a leading independent publisher publishing books for Asia and the world. Established in 1991, Armour has published many best-selling titles for the General, Children and Christian markets.

In the General market, Armour is known for its Self-Help and Inspirational as well as Marriage and Parenting titles. In the Children’s market, Armour publishes books under the Little Knights imprint. These books help children learn to read and grow their love for reading through compelling stories that are educational and promote good values and character building. We have the privilege of being one of the few publishers for world-renowned author Joy Cowley. Her best-selling Well-Being Series has sold more than 240,000 copies in several languages.

In 2015, Armour launched a new series titled Let Me Read. To date, we have sold more than 310,000 copies of the Let Me Read series. Armour is committed to promoting local writers and helping them leapfrog onto the international stage. Its best-selling motivational series for teens, the Why Series by Teo Aik Cher has been translated multiple times and language rights have been sold to China, Philippines and Vietnam. We have also ventured into chapter books by local authors such as Don Bosco, Ryan Khor and Eunice Li-Tan.

Knights Learning imprint was introduced in 2017, dedicated to supplementary educational publications, which encompass assessment books, guidebooks and teacher’s resource guides. The carefully-curated content follows local syllabus and not only provides students with a solid grounding in their fields of study and equips them for the challenges of tomorrow, but also aims to nurture the love for knowledge and lifelong learning.

In the Christian market, Armour is best known for the titles by Bishop Emeritus Robert Solomon, former Bishop of the Methodist Church in Singapore. We also have books on Christian Marriage & Parenting, Christian Living, Christian Response & Social Issues, Teaching & Exposition, Missions & True Stories, History & Theological Resources, and Church Ministry & Leadership. Once, Alicia only read books when she was told to. That changed after she was given A.K. Cowley’s first novel as a birthday gift. It had lots of pages, and Alicia thought it might take a whole year to read.

Instead, she read through it. She was completely absorbed. Mum and Dad kept telling her to put the book away and get on with her homework.

Alicia had now read that book three times. She had also begged her parents to buy every other title in the series, pre-ordering the latest title months before its release.

A.K. Cowley’s mythical landscapes were more real to Alicia than her very own bedroom. She talked about the characters with her school friends. And A.K. herself had become Alicia’s idol.

Well-categorised, has many descriptive phrases and a very rich vocabulary bank for children to pull from.

My Creative Writing Companion was written to help students in not only expanding their vocabulary in an easy-to-refer guide, but also providing Flashback options for creative introductions and conclusions that link a fractured narrative smoothly. These suggested paragraphs will springboard each child to develop his or her own ideas and create compositions that will make any student proud.

In addition, the book carries a section on Character Traits which helps the student develop a rich vocabulary to describe the characters in a story with depth and emotion.

GUY BRANDON

Christian Response and Social Issues

IT permeates our every waking moment, opening up vast possibilities daily. We can do things more quickly, more efficiently, we can do more. Yet there is a downside—days absorbed in social media, a quarter of working hours in unproductive online activity. And more sinister: loss of privacy, anonymity, the undisclosed harvesting of personal details by commercial and government organisations. Technology is about power—always.

Guy Brandon shows in this enormously helpful and practical book that the impact of communications technologies is not merely technological: It is relational and spiritual. And the reality is that unless we master them, they will master us.

Author
Guy Brandon is research director for the Jubilee Centre and holds a degree, MPhil and PhD in Old Testament theology from Cambridge University. His books include Just Sex (IVP) and Votewise (SPCK).

Unmasked

BEN KC LEE
Christian Living

Sexual brokenness is all around us. But the truth is that we avoid talking about sexual brokenness because it brings us face to face with the parts of ourselves that we are most fearful of and shameful about. So we put on masks when confronted with issues related to our sexuality.

We wear masks because authenticity in discussing sexuality and sexual brokenness is unnerving. But masks also prevent healing. And if the topic of sexual brokenness is left unaddressed, it can rob us of wholeness and rob our families of true joy.

In this book, Ben KC Lee urges you to take off your mask and break the silence, so that you may experience healing and find freedom.

> Author
Ben was born in Sabah, Malaysia and spent much of his schooling years in Singapore. He started out as an accountant before serving as senior pastor and then as pastor to pastors. Ben currently serves as Head of Sexual Wholeness with Focus on the Family Singapore. He coaches pastors and equips congregations to take an integrated approach to sexuality. He mentors people working through issues of sexuality both in opposite-sex attraction and same-sex attraction.

Unconditional?

JOSE PHILIP
Teaching and Exposition

The love of God, despite being the subject matter of countless number of sermons and religious teachings, is often reduced to one word—unconditional. But what does it mean when we describe God’s love as unconditional?

Most people expect God to be involved in human affairs for our good. However, not every worldview speaks of God as love. Only the Judeo-Christian worldview uniquely describes God as love. And while we could speak of divine love as “unconditional”, we must not conclude that God’s love is always and only unconditional.

In this book, Jose Philip explores the notion of God’s unconditional love by taking us through the book of Hosea, inviting us to consider the many aspects of divine love for humans—and how this love leads to our ultimate good.

> Author
Jose Philip was born in Kerala and grew up in Chennai, India. He became a follower of Jesus Christ when he was 14. Jose is currently serving as an Evangelist and Apologist with Ravi Zacharias International Ministries (Asia-Pacific). He also lectures on Apologetics, Christian Ethics and Gospel & Culture at Singapore Bible College, Baptist Theological Seminary and Bible College Malaysia.

Faith in An Age of Terror

EDITED BY QUEK TZE-MING AND PHILIP E. SATTERTHWAITE
Christian Response and Social Issues

The attacks on the Twin Towers on 11 September 2001; the subsequent ‘War on Terror’; the attacks on civilians both in Europe and in the Middle East; the rise of ISIS. These events have made the issue of terrorism impossible to ignore. In particular, attention has been drawn to the link between terrorism and religious belief, as both those responsible for terrorist acts and those who launch counter-terrorist actions justify what they do by appealing to religious teachings.

This book raises questions and challenges the ways in which believers have traditionally done things.

> Author
Quek Tze-Ming served in student ministry with the Fellowship of Evangelical Students (Singapore). He then commenced theological studies, receiving a Dip. C.S. from BGST, a M.Div and a Th.M from Regent College, Vancouver. Philip E. Satterthwaite has been Lecturer in Old Testament and Biblical Hebrew at the Biblical Graduate School of Theology, Singapore since 1999. His main research areas are the Old Testament historical books and the Septuagint.
The Reformation

Robert M. Solomon

The Reformation in 16th century Europe is a unique story of significant social upheaval, captivating characters, daring debates and calamitous conflict. It is also a story of the hidden hand of God helping the church to return to His Word and the gospel of Jesus Christ, and to a deeper understanding and experience of His grace and salvation.

In The Reformation: The Thoughts, Lives and Legacy of the Reformers, we will see the guiding hand of God, the nobility and frailty of human nature, and the continuing legacy of events that took place 500 years ago. Indeed, we will see how the Reformation has shaped world history and still deeply affects us today, both positively and negatively.

> Author

Bishop Emeritus Robert Solomon was Bishop of the Methodist Church in Singapore from 2000-2012. He had served previously as a medical doctor, church pastor, Principal of Trinity Theological College and President of the National Council of Churches of Singapore. On Being the Antioch of Asia

W M Syn

Has Singapore been living up to its call as the Antioch of Asia? What happens when churches carry out their missions programs without partnering with missions organizations? Is it healthy for churches to apply popular trends and ideas in missions across different cultural fields?

This book examines the effectiveness of popular trends and ideas in missions, highlights areas that need strengthening, and proposes a new model of missions partnership between local churches and agencies in order to enable Singapore to fulfill its call as the Antioch of Asia effectively.

> Author

W M Syn (DMiss, Biola University) served as a missionary in South Asia for almost 10 years with his family. During that time, they worked with local partners to establish a ministry which continues to support community development, leadership training and church planting ministries in over 50 communities. He is currently the Director of the Asian mobilisation base of a global mission agency, responsible for mobilising, equipping and sending missionaries from the Asian region. Prior to going to the field, he was an engineer and manager in the Automotive industry in Australia.

Twelve Whys of Worship

Jeffrey A Truscott

Written by a scholar with years of experience in teaching and pastoral ministry, Twelve Whys of Worship by Jeffrey Truscott explores the reasons behind the central actions of Christian worship. Each of these is examined from bibli cal, historical and theological perspectives so that a broad, in-depth understanding is given. The author forthrightly explores the difficulties and questions that pertain to the various acts of worship. Readers will appreciate how he begins each chapter by drawing a comparison with popular trends and ideas in missions, highlighting areas that need strengthening, and proposes a new model of missions partnership between local churches and agencies in order to enable Singapore to fulfill its call as the Antioch of Asia effectively.

> Author

Jeffrey A. Truscott is an ordained minister of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America, currently serving as Lecturer in Liturgy and Worship at Trinity Theological College in Singapore, where he is also the Chaplain. Prior to that, he was Associate Professor and Dean of the Chapel at Japan Lutheran College and Theological Seminary in Tokyo. He holds degrees from two Lutheran seminaries and a Ph.D. in liturgical studies from the University of Notre Dame, in Indiana, USA.
In this age of uncertainty and relativism, it has become increasingly important that Christians remain strongly rooted in Christ and His Word. The Christian’s Compass aims to draw Christians back to the foundational truths essential for living as true disciples of Christ. In addition to the basic Christian doctrines, Les Wheeldon addresses subjects such as discipleship, healing and deliverance, prayer, leadership, and church planting and growth. His teaching brings clear spiritual insight to these areas of Christian life and equips Christians with a Christ-centred compass to guide them as they navigate the peaks and valleys of life.

> Author
Les Wheeldon began ministry in January 1979. He has a BA in French and German from Oxford University and an MA in Biblical Studies from Trinity College of the Bible, Indiana, which have provided a valuable foundation for his calling as a Bible teacher and missionary. Les has been involved in several Bible schools, including Tung Ling Bible School in Singapore. Les has also authored a Daily Devotional, a book on Leadership and a study of Galatians.
